

Matthew Hamon Receives 2017 Triangle Insurance Scholarship

October 18, 2017 (MANHATTAN, Kan.) – Matthew Hamon of Ozawkie, Kansas, a junior in agricultural economics at Kansas State University, has been awarded the Triangle Insurance Scholarship through the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center and the Department of Agricultural Economics at Kansas State University.

Matthew is involved with the Collegiate Cattlemen’s Club and intramurals. He’s active in his church and volunteers at the local food pantry. Matthew works as a lab worker at the Kansas Crop Improvement Association and also works on the family farm. He plans to return to the family farm upon graduation in May 2019. The Hamon family is affiliated with the following cooperatives: FreeState Electric Cooperative and Jackson Farmers, Inc.

“The purpose of the Triangle Insurance Scholarship is to contribute to the education of future agricultural leaders,” states Professor Brian Briggeman, director of the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center. This scholarship has awarded $7,000 since 2011.

To be eligible for a scholarship, students must be either a junior or senior in high academic standing in K-State’s College of Agriculture at the time the scholarship is received. The student or member of the student’s family must be employed by or serving on the board of directors of a Triangle Insurance customer cooperative or the family must be engaged in production agriculture and be an active member of a Triangle Insurance customer cooperative.

The awarding of the Triangle Insurance Scholarship is coordinated through the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center. “Additional contributions by those who want to support the purposes of cooperative scholarships are welcome,” Dr. Briggeman said. They should be made payable to “KSU Foundation/ACCC” and sent to the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center, Department of Agricultural Economics, 305 Waters Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506.

About the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center

The Arthur Capper Cooperative Center provides research-based information, education and assistance to people with and interested in cooperative businesses, including cooperative members, directors, managers and employees. The Center also works with students and faculty at educational institutions, the general public and public officials as well as owners, directors, managers and employees of agribusinesses. Further information can be obtained about this scholarship or about establishing additional scholarships by emailing Brian Briggeman at bbrigg@ksu.edu or visiting the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center website at <http://acc.k-state.edu/>.

###

K-State Research and Extension is a short name for the Kansas State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service, a program designed to generate and distribute useful knowledge for the well-being of Kansans. Supported by county, state, federal and private funds, the program has county Extension offices, experiment fields, area Extension offices and regional research centers statewide. Its headquarters is on the K-State campus in Manhattan.

Story by: Arthur Capper Cooperative Center
Department of Agricultural Economics, Kansas State University
K-State Research & Extension News

Photo caption is as follows: (left to right) Dr. Brian Briggeman, ACCC Director, and Matthew Hamon at the K-State Department of Agricultural Economics Awards Banquet, September 29, 2017.