

Summer (Smades) Santillana and Bryston Warren Receive 2021-2022 David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarships

November 8, 2021 (MANHATTAN, Kan.) –Summer (Smades) Santillana of Leoti, Kansas, a senior in agricultural economics, and Bryston Warren of Odell, Nebraska, a junior in agricultural economics, have been awarded the David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarship through the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center and the Department of Agricultural Economics at Kansas State University.

Summer (Smades) Santillana is a member of Alpha of Clovia and has held several leadership positions, including president, vice president and chaplain. She is involved in the K-State Agricultural Economics-Agribusiness Club and Minorities in Agriculture, Natural Resources and Related Sciences (MANRRS) chapter. Summer is pursuing a CATS minor (Conflict Analysis and Trauma Studies) and has earned her Conflict Resolution Certificate. She works in the K-State College of Ag Diversity Programs Office while going to school. She will graduate with her bachelor's degree this December and plans to attend graduate school. Summer's career goals include working in the ag industry for a cooperative or in a service business supporting cooperatives. The Smades family is affiliated with the Wheatland Electric Cooperative.

Bryston Warren is actively involved in campus life while maintaining high academic standards in the classroom. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho and serves as an Ambassador for the K-State College of Agriculture. Bryston is involved with Student Government Association and Interfraternity Council. This summer he completed a virtual internship with Land O'Lakes as a supply chain intern. Bryston works at the K-State Agronomy Lab and in construction while going to school. He will graduate in May 2023 and plans to pursue a career in agricultural finance. The Warren family is affiliated with Farmers Cooperative (Dorchester).

The David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarship has awarded over $117,000 in scholarships since its establishment in 2014. David and Susan Barton came to Kansas State University in 1976 and have been contributing to cooperative education for many years. They are now encouraging the next generation to develop into strong educated leaders.

“The purpose of the David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarship is to encourage the development of leaders in the agribusiness community,” states Professor Brian Briggeman, director of the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center. “It’s also to provide significant financial assistance to eligible students enrolled in educational programs emphasizing these areas of study.”

To be eligible for the David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarship, a student must be either a junior or senior in K-State’s College of Agriculture at the time the scholarship is received and be pursuing a degree in Agribusiness or Agricultural Economics. The recipient must also have strong academic performance and be affiliated as a member or as a child or dependent of a member or employee of a company operating on a cooperative basis in the United States (including agricultural, farm credit, credit union, rural electric or rural telephone cooperatives). Continuing K-State students are encouraged to fill out the K-State scholarship application by March 15th to be included in the university scholarship process for the 2022-2023 academic year.

The David and Susan Barton Cooperative Leadership Scholarship was established by donations from cooperative leaders as a thank you to the Bartons for their years of service to cooperatives. Family and friends added to the fund upon David’s retirement from the university. David and Susan Barton matched more than twice the amount of each contribution made to the fund to further benefit outstanding students at Kansas State University. “Additional contributions by those who want to honor David and Susan Barton and support the purposes of the scholarship are welcome,” Dr. Briggeman said. They should be made payable to “KSU Foundation/Barton” and sent to the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center, Kansas State University, Department of Agricultural Economics, 342 Waters Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506.

About the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center

The Arthur Capper Cooperative Center provides research-based information, education and assistance to people with and interested in cooperative businesses, including cooperative members, directors, managers and employees. The Center also works with students and faculty at educational institutions, the general public and public officials as well as owners, directors, managers and employees of agribusinesses. Further information can be obtained about this scholarship or about establishing additional scholarships by emailing Brian Briggeman at bbrigg@ksu.edu or visiting the Arthur Capper Cooperative Center website at <http://accc.k-state.edu/>.

###

K-State Research and Extension is a short name for the Kansas State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service, a program designed to generate and distribute useful knowledge for the well-being of Kansans. Supported by county, state, federal and private funds, the program has county extension offices, experiment fields, area extension offices and regional research centers statewide. Its headquarters is on the K-State campus in Manhattan. For more information, visit www.ksre.ksu.edu K-State Research and Extension is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Story by: Arthur Capper Cooperative Center
Department of Agricultural Economics, Kansas State University
K-State Research & Extension

Photo caption: Dr. David Barton, ACCC Director Emeritus and KSU AGEC Professor Emeritus, Summer (Smades) Santillana, Bryston Warren and Susan Barton at the K-State Department of Agricultural Economics Awards Banquet, September 17, 2021.